In re Estate John Sanford Saltus

Gentlemen:

There still is some misunderstanding in the minds of the Executors of the above estate as to certain coins or medals which you have or had in your possession for Mr. Saltus. Kindly let us know whether the check for $153.60 recently sent to us is in final payment of these coins which Mr. Saltus had ordered sold, and whether you are holding in your possession other medals which you have suggested be given to the Society.

Yours very truly,

Butler Wyckoff, Reid

Messrs. Butler, Wyckoff & Reid
54 Wall Street, New York City

Gentlemen:

In response to your letter of September 22nd, the cheque for $153.60 recently received by you is in final payment for decorations ordered by Mr. Saltus, the duplicates among which were to be sold by the Society. This transaction is entirely independent of that relating to the Society's medals with which my previous letter was concerned. These medals were issued for subscription and the subscription was confined to our membership. For his personal purposes, Mr. Saltus ordered a number of these copies for each issue, asking that we keep them here at the Society for him. Because our circulars stated that after the close of subscription, no further copies would be struck, we now have little opportunity to sell these pieces except to our membership, and I do not quite see why our Society should use its scanty funds to purchase these medals.

Very truly yours,

Secretary
